FREE First Aid Training for YOUR School

The Government is adding basis first aid to the national curriculum soon. However, ProTrainings has been providing FREE first aid and CPR training to schools and organisations all over the UK for many years now.

"I welcome this initiative. Those with knowledge of first aid play a key role in saving lives. I welcome those who are seeking to train young people in life-saving first aid skills."

- Sir Bob Russell, former Chairman of the All-Party Parliamentary First Aid Group

What is the Student First Aid program?

Watch the video here!

Student First Aid is an education program dedicated to ensuring every school student is taught life-saving first aid skills for free.

Our course is designed to incorporate first aid into the curriculum, overcoming time and cost barriers by using online learning. This flexible option allows students to learn first aid on a computer or mobile device, at school or at home.

Learn online at your own pace, 24/7, 365 days a year. When you're ready, take practice tests and a final question and answer. Pass and receive your free, downloadable certificate!

Why choose ProTrainings?

Community resources vary and can be unreliable. Training in-school instructors can be expensive and the cost of equipment can quickly add up. That's why our online solution is the best, bringing training direct to staff and students for free.

You can track the progress of students and the team via a free online learning management dashboard. This can split pupils by their classes too.

With a network of over 1,000 instructors across the UK, each school has the option to add a paid hands-on classroom session, where students can practise their new skills on a manikin and be coached by the experts in life support.

Not only that, but we will train a member of staff to become a 'skills evaluator' so they can sign-off students' practical skills. If required, a separate course can be organised to fully-train staff in first aid and award a qualification, so they can teach students themselves.

When it comes to training kit, we've teamed up with Practi-MAN to offer a vastly-reduced price to schools and educational facilities on manikins, which can be purchased directly from us, along with any other first aid equipment you need.
